II.1.5) Short description of the contract or purchase(s) :

The Dutch Ministry of Infrastructure and Environment (hereinafter the Ministry) and its 12 regional public partners through its Better Benutten program wishes to enhance accessibility of its prime urban-economical regions by assisting private enterprises in deploying innovations that will positively affect travellers choices (departure time, mode of transport, routes, destination parking and so forth), drivers choices and drivers behaviour (speed, breaking, lane choice, merging and so forth).

These innovative services need to facilitate measurable effects in the near future (1-4 years) on travel times, reduction of road incidents, fuel consumption, emissions and have a sustainable business case after government financial support has expired.

The Ministry on behalf of its partners therefore wishes to support private development, implementation and early stage deployment of various C-ITS use cases, utilizing cellular based low latency data transfer and handling. The Ministry and its partners believe it is imperative that new urban C-ITS solutions will be developed and implemented in close cooperation between public and private parties throughout the value chain.
